PROLOGUE

Among the Mountains . . .

Among the mountains there is beauty, there is work, there is fun, achievement, distinction . . . and there are memories. Lift up your head, young girl, feel the wind against your cheek, and laugh. For here you dwell awhile among the mountains.

Your days become a beginning filled with the beauty of friendship, and study, and accomplishments as the mountains' crisp leaves are softened by the snow melting to a green birth.

Lift up your head and gain the knowledge and strength and spiritual growth which these years offer.

For Virginia Intermont stands strong and firm as these surrounding mountains . . . ever ready to give her daughters guidance, understanding, and destination.

Dedication

It has been said that the true calling of a Christian is not to do extraordinary things, but to do ordinary things in an extraordinary way. There is one among us whose faithful service to the College and whose devotion to the students has been evidenced in many ways. Through the years she has been able to communicate her love for people and for her God to hundreds of students who have come and gone from Virginia Intermont College. In gratitude we dedicate the 1966 Intermont to Mrs. Dwight Willet.

Studies

Mathematics

Mr. Buckner solves a problem for Lyn Bell.

Science

Courses of study in mathematics and science classes are broad enough for the general student yet specialized enough to meet the needs of the student entering mathematics or science professions. For mathematics students, the program consists of algebra, trigonometry, calculus, and analytical geometry. The science students may choose from classes in anatomy, botany, chemistry, microbiology, physics, organic chemistry, and zoology.

Mr. Owens helps Betty Roberts in the zoology Laboratory.

Hard work will result in a good finished product.

Although the total aim of the department is to help the continuing student reach her goal in a senior college and to train the future homemaker, home economics is of inestimable value in developing traits of womanliness. Both terminal and transfer courses are available.

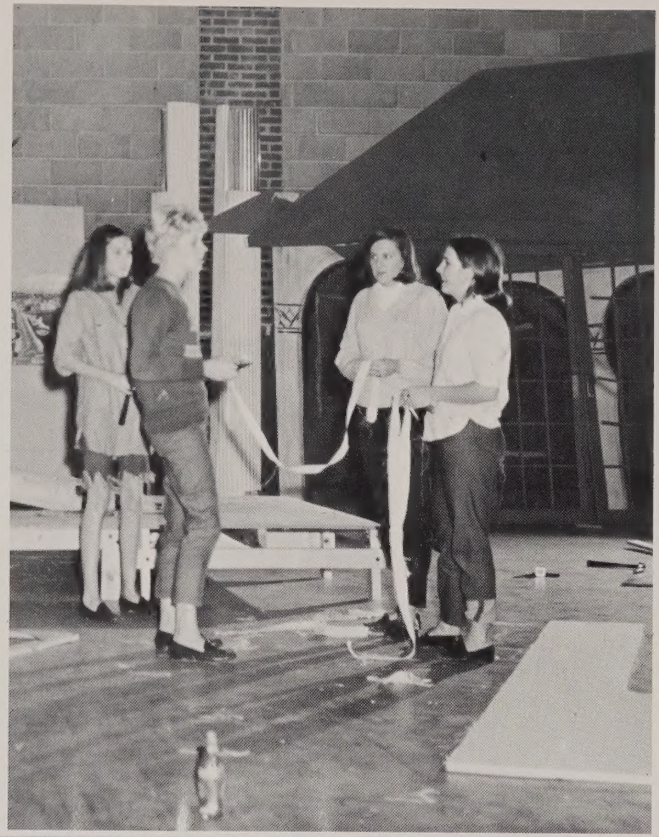
Making the newest styles in clothing laboratory.



Speech and Drama

The Speech Department offers a transfer program for those who expect to continue the study of speech or speech and drama. Activities include intramural speech contests and the College Debate Team which participates in regional tournaments.

The Drama Department offers a program designed to meet the needs of those who expect to continue drama study and those who want a terminal course for its general culture value. Among other productions this year were Yerma, The Marriage Wheel, and Frosty the Snowman, the children's play which was presented at the Christmas season in many of the nearby elementary schools.

Art

Beth Teilman in sculpturing class.

Art students in the Fine and Applied Art programs are given a background in art fundamentals to which specialized skills may be added. Many exhibits were shown throughout the year including the work of H. P. Williams, an assistant professor at the University of Florida, and Mary Wiebe, a graduate of V.I. Mr. Cooke and Mr. Ward also held one-man shows.

Art class is not all drawing.

NOT THAT I LOVED CAESAR LESS, BUT I LOVED ROME MORE

Amid the confusion of Spanish and French verbs, nouns, adjectives, and pronouns, the foreign-language student is introduced to French classics and modern Spanish-American literature. This experience gives her an insight into continental customs and outlooks.

C'est une faute, Mademoiselle!

Music

The Intermont Music Department offers both music majors and non-music majors an opportunity to express themselves through organ, piano, and voice. The talents of Mr. Eugene Maupin, distinguished organist and harpsichordist, were added to the teaching staff of the Department this year. Harpsichord lessons, as a result, were available for the first time. Each student appears in both formal and informal recitals during the year, and she has the chance to compete for a position in the V.I. choir.

Secretarial

Organized for the purpose of fitting the secretarial student with skills which best equip her for a business career, the Department also recognizes the need for liberal arts courses which encourage her lifelong educational growth. A strong medical secretarial program appeals to many girls, who especially enjoy their practical experience in the offices of local doctors.

Should this be capitalized?

Tennis, aquatics, dance, golf, equitation, and games are only a few courses included in the physical education program at Virginia Intermont. All students have the chance to develop skills in their classes and to participate in intramural and inter-collegiate teams. The physical education majors find a wide range of intensive training.

Humanities

The humanities help to develop individuals with greater capacities for living in the modern world. English, social science, economics, history, philosophy, psychology, sociology, and religion courses present a plan for living, working, and understanding.

"Intermont" means "among the mountains," and it is to this phrase that the staff has turned for inspiration for the 1966 INTERMONT. From the ageless hills the staff is reminded of the value of learning from yearbooks in the past. To this heritage, the 1966 INTERMONT staff has added its own ideas, with the hope that the combination will be a refreshing one.

This is the last page of this book, which would certainly denote the end; but this book cannot be considered finished until the proper thanks have been given to those who have made the '66 INTERMONT possible.

First, I would like to thank the yearbook advisors, Miss Mary Lou Smith for all the time she spent in proofreading and correcting copy, and Mr. Joseph Ward for his time in making sure all layouts and other details were correct.

Secondly, I would like to say "Thank you" to my staff. A yearbook is utterly impossible to put together . . . unless it has a good staff, and I know that I had one.

Thirdly, I would like to express my appreciation to Mr. Richard Dickerson, the yearbook photographer, who has worked hard in taking and developing our many pictures.

Last but not least, thanks must be given to everyone else on campus—faculty, and students alike—for their cooperation throughout the year.

There are many long hours of work involved in putting together a yearbook, but the final reward is seeing the finished product. Both my staff and I are confident that we have achieved our ultimate goal—putting together the best INTERMONT ever.

The entire INTERMONT staff joins me in saying, "Best wishes for the future."
